

The Call to Love.

Tell me, can you act with Love when it's not easy, especially when fear, self-doubt, and insecurity would overcome you?
Can you source Life from Love then?

When you face inevitable rejection from others...while they live their own truths soaring and stumbling toward the Light, can you Love them anyway?

Can you create what Life is for; and not make wrong what appears to oppose it?
Will you find the Courage to stop fighting with yourself... and life as it is?
Instead, will you Faithfully meet what seems to oppose your devotions... for the clarity, resolve and sharpness it strengthens and hones within you?

Can you live trusting that Love Works?

What about Love for yourself?
When your actions and attitudes bear evidence that you're not worthy and don't deserve Love, can you extend yourself Forgiveness and Grace, then?

Will you sing the song of your Soul and dance your own steps ... in ways that contribute Harmony to the concert of Life and rhythms of Love to the dance of others?

Can you be true to the realization that Love is a Gift of Grace... receiving, expressing and sharing Love is also a Gift?

Will you find a way to make Love with Life in this Moment of Truth, again...and again...and again...no matter the circumstances?

When you do, you will know a depth of contact, connection and intimacy with the essence of Life, which few ever touch... and most can't conceive.

You'll know your Essential Self, in Love Here... where Love Is... On Purpose Now.
